Dr. Crosby continues to serve as a Clinical Assistant Professor and adjunct lecturer at the University of Illinois College of Dentistry.

Irene Boltz, RDH

Irene Boltz joined our staff in 1986. A graduate of Marquette University, Irene lives in Sycamore and balances her career and personal life following the paths of her three adult sons. As an advocate, she works with families affected by autism. She enjoys spending time biking, attending book club and hanging out with friends. "Lunch and Learn" was introduced as a result of Irene's experience in the field of Periodontics, as well as her passion for learning and continuing education. This educational, interactive presentation affords all dental team members the opportunity to learn and discuss aspects of implant dentistry; and understand what their patients can expect after having been referred to our office for treatment.

The Implant Du Jour

Navigating your way through the marketing maze

The world of dental implants is changing. Every month there are new techniques, new ideas, and new products that hit the market. With an increasing number of dental implant systems on the market and the growing pressures of today's economic climate, how do we know what information is real and what is simply marketing hype?

Implant quality has a direct impact on patient satisfaction, and can eventually factor into the cost of running a practice. In keeping up with the many changes happening in the field of implant dentistry, we will discuss five key areas that are shaping the industry as well as help guide you through the maze of products available.

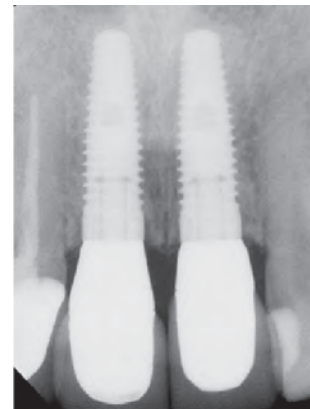

- History of implant design
- Review of literature and evidenced based therapy as it relates to implant design
- Planning for the long term
- Mini implants - indications and contraindications
- Dental implant prosthetics and after-market parts
